Lee, '15, Elected Alumni Trustee

Council Hears Reports of Committee Chairmen

Frederic P. Lee, '15, was elected alumni trustee of the college to succeed William Bristol, Jr., '17, at a meeting of the Alumni Council, presided over by Clancy Connell, '12, Saturday afternoon in Buttrick Hall.

Mr. Lee is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity and was elected to D.T. and Pentagon. Upon his graduation from Hamilton College in 1915 he went to Columbia Law School and received his degree in 1918. He was First Assistant Legislative Councilor for the House of Representatives from 1919 until 1922 whereupon he became the Legislative Counsel to the United States Senate, a position he held for eight years.

In 1933 he was appointed Special Counsel to the Secretary of Agriculture and in 1933 became the General Counsel for the Federal Alcohol Control Board. From 1929-35 Mr. Lee was a Professor of Statutory Law at the George Washington University Law School. Unitil 1935 he was one-half of the law firm of McCracken and Lee, whereupon he became a member of Alvord and Alvord, a law firm in Washington, D. C.

He is the chairman of the Draft Board in Bethesda, Md., a member of the Supreme Court bar, and has twice won newspaper awards for being the leading citizen in Montgomery County, Maryland.

At Hamilton he was a member of the Alumni Council from 1940 until 1941 and is one of the alumni members of the Athletic Council. His term as alumni trustee will be from July 1, 1942 to July 1, 1949.

Other business at the Alumni Council meeting Saturday included a report by William Eddy, '14, for the Committee on Fraternities on the organization of a business management office of fraternities. The report was the result of a meeting held Friday afternoon which was attended by the presi-

Summer Sessions Official With Executive Board

Meeting in Utica at 2 p. m. Monday, the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees officially announced that there will be a summer session at Hamilton College in 1942.

The details concerning curriculum and administration are to be worked out before the 28th of this month, at which time they will be voted upon by the same Committee.

To date, this plan accounts for only the upper three classes at Hamilton. No mention has been made of a freshman class matriculating during the summer months.

V-7 Enlists Seven From Two Classes

Seven juniors and seniors were sworn in as midshipmen in the United States Navy when the V-7 Naval Recruiting Board finished its examinations of 20 men on the Hill last Wednesday. This brings the total of V-7 enlisted men, now deferred to inactive duty pending graduation, to 15 Hamilton upperclassmen. Eight men were sworn in during the Christmas recess.

Those who enlisted at Christmas time are: A. M. Hay, R. W. Smith, R. P. Lux, and T. H. Young,Jr., '42; A. W. Forsyth, Jr., W. C. Curran, S. D. Rowley, and E. C. Schlenker, Jr., '43. The seven men who passed the examinations Wednesday include: Brace Bennitt, C A. Godsell, Jr., Robert Marshall, '42; and R. W. Colby, G. W. Lattin, George C. Towe, and Otis M. Bigelow, '43.

Four men were accepted tentatively, depending on whether they can pass another physical examination to be given by the Board in Syracuse on February 16. In these cases there is some question whether certain minor teeth defects and slightly excess weight would disqualify their entry into the service.

Royd Lutz, '42, was accepted during the Christmas recess into the V-5 training service of the Navy. He will qualify for an of-

Hoch Receives Fowler Award

Athletic Letters, Numerals Presented In Chapel

Wednesday in Chapel, fall athletic awards were given to 70 students by the Athletic Department and the Student Council. Also, Army Hoch was presented the Fowler Award, a trophy given to that member of the football squad who has best observed the rules of the game and fairness towards opponents, best supported by Hamilton's football interest, and has displayed perseveranse, courage, manliness, self-control, and modesty throughout the season.

The Chapel, which was under the direction of the Student Council, was devoted mostly to giving 23 varsity football letters, 16 varsity soccer letters, 11 freshman football numerals, and 14 freshman soccer numerals.

For the rest of the Chapel period, J. V. Knight urged all Hill students to buy and keep buying United States Defense Stamps which are now on sale at the College Store. He also asked the student body's cooperation in a plan to raise money to buy wool for the Bundles for America campaign. This plan called for every man in college contributing ten cents to the cause, and Knight said that representatives of Bundles for America would visit the different fraternity houses in the near future to collect the money.

Also, it is made known that the Council intends to use the plan originated by Hamilton Life and Mr. Frank Merritt to raise money which will be invested in a defense bond scholarship. As yet, nothing definite has been done about it, but the general idea will be to have another Buff and Blue Review. This new review will be a fast moving group of acts composed of the best talent Hamilton has to offer. If the review is a success and goes over well here on the Hill, the show will probably be given in Utica for the same cause.

C.P.T. Flyers To Be Quizzed Tomorrow

The C.A.A. students will finish their ground school training at the end of this week, announced the C.A.A. instructors Monday. Those flyers who have been taking the secondary ground school course will have their final exam on Thursday, February 12, while the primary students who failed to pass the first test will be given a chance to redeem themselves in a make-up exam to be given in conjunction with the secondary final.

During this month all the actual flying hours for both the primary and secondary trainees should be completed and new courses will be started at once. Any men who wish to enter the new primary and secondary courses should get in touch with Mr. Bennett at once.

Pete Hamilton, '43, has completed the six hours of cross-country training required of the primary students, while Steve Walker, trying to complete this requirement, was forced down in Schenectady because of bad weather conditions.

Merritt Plans Debating Program for February

Debate Coach Frank W. Merritt announced on Monday the varsity debate schedule for February.

On February 14 from 1:30 to 2:00, Joseph Watrous and James Knight will discuss the subject, "Just This Side of the Army" over Syracuse's radio station WFBL.

The first debate of the month is scheduled for the 18th against Drew University. Richard Valone and Donald Reutershan will support for Hamilton the negative side of the proposition, Resolved: that labor unions in the United

Krahe Awarded Arnold Scholarship For "Best Record"

Charles William Krahe, Long Island City freshman, has been awarded the Benjamin Walworth Arnold prize scholarship, President Cowley announced in chapel last Wednesday.

The honor is given each year to "that holder of a regular scholarship in each college class who . . . shall have made the best record in his college courses".

Krahe, a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, was also valedictorian of his class in Townsend Harris high school, Long Island City.

College To Register February 14, 15, 16

The Clinton Draft Board made certain Tuesday that Hamilton students, eligible to register under the new draft law, would not be denied the opportunity to do so, when it appointed Wallace B. Johnson to supervise the College registration in his office on February 14, 15, 16.

The registration is open to all those who were 20 years old before December 31, 1941, and who are not 45 years old February 14, 1942. Men who have previously registered under other draft laws will not register again.

Mr. Johnson's office in the Administration Building, a temporary branch of the Clinton Draft Board, will be open Saturday, Sunday and Monday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and from 2 p. m. to five p. m., excepting Sunday morning when it will be open from nine until ten-thirty.

Robert M. Diggs, assistant to the president, will aid Mr. Johnson on these three days.

Singer To Highlight Friday Tea Concert

The fourth in the series of Friday afternoon concerts sponsored by the Musical Arts Society will feature the singing of William Gephart, noted baritone, at the Theta Delta Chi house at four o'clock. Mr. Gephart will be accompanied by Bertha Melnik, pianist.

A graduate of DePauw University and the Juilliard Graduate School, Mr. Gephart reached a large radio audience as the star of "Sentimental Concert" over WOR during the 1940-41 season. He has appeared at Colgate University, Carnegie Hall in New York and the Gardner Museum, Boston.

The College community is invited to the concert free of charge. Tea will be served following the performance.

Mr. Gephart's program, part one, "An die Musik", "Auf dem Wasser zu singen", "Nacht und Traume", and "Der Musensohn", all by Schubert; part two, "Vier ernst Gesange", opus 121 by Brahms; part three, four songs from the cycle "Liederkreis", "In der Fremde", "Waldesgesprach", "Mondnacht", "Fruhlingsnacht" all by Schumann.

Carnival Nets Gain For Dimes Charity

Winter Carnival final tabulations show that 319 tickets were sold this year as compared to 220 last year. The rise this year was due to the best program the Winter Carnival committee has ever offered. Treasurer Beardslee announced that the proceeds, which will be donated to the March of Dimes, will probably go over the two hundred dollar mark.

The Hamiton student body, by continuing with its annual Winter Carnival, has done something for the national welfare in a positive, rather than a negative manner, as Chairman R. W. Wilkerson suggested in Chapel three weeks ago.

The 1943 Winter Carnival Committee will not be selected until some time in May.

Cooperative Buying Plans Approved for Fraternities

Hamilton Fraternities Initiate Eighty-Eight New Members

Following a hell week in which the freshmen did everything from the sublime to the ridiculous, and had frequent doubts as to whether the stern upperclassmen were actually going to be brothers at all, 88 men were initiated into the ten fraternities. Of these, five were sophomores, and 83 were freshmen. After the induction ceremonies the fraternities held banquets for the new members. To these cermonies came many returning alumni. Delta Upsilon initiated the largest number of men. A list of the initiates follows.

Undergraduates Hear Speakers

Clancy D. Connell, '12, chairman of the Alumni Council, and Carl Wenigmann, '14, chairman of the Alumni Fund Committee, spoke informally on the subject of the Alumni Fund to Hamilton undergraduates in noonday chapel Friday.

Connell remarked that there were two schools of thought in regard to alumni on the campuses of American colleges. "One school looks upon alumni as a necessary evil," he said; "the other, to which Hamilton belongs, tries to keep an active interest in college affairs among its alumni." Mr. Connell credited Dr. Cowley with being the cause of much alumni enthusiasm.

Mr. Wenigmann commented on the Alumni Fund, why it is necessary, how it is obtained, and what it accomplishes. "Everything that is Hamilton is due to the gifts in money and labor of alumni and friends," he said. "The same contributions are responsible for the endowment fund which enables Hamilton students to receive their education at a figure considerably under the actual cost per man."

"The economic order," Mr. Weniggmann recalled, "began to change some time ago. Fortunes dwindled; fewer and fewer large substantial gifts came to rest in the endowment fund. To meet this situation the alumni fund was started about eight years ago. But until Dr. Cowley and Clancy Connell became interested in it, the fund did not measure up to expectations. Last year, at the end of an intensive campaign, 1600 alumni contributed a total of $27,000. This year we are aiming at a goal of 2,000 alumni subscribers."

Mr. Wenigmann ended his remarks by describing the tour of New York State Connell and he had just completed. In one week they had seen 55 men and had received from them pledges totaling $13,500. According to Mr. Wenigmann, they were amazed at the interest in the college aroused by the Cowley administration and especially by the success of last fall's football team.

Dr. Cowley congratulated Connell and Wenigmann for their excellent work and announced that the Hamilton Alumni Fund had the second highest percentage of contributors of any alumni fund in the nation.

Retired Navy Officer Conducts First Class

A. Montgomery Huntington, a retired naval officer, met with his newly organized class in Seamanship and Piloting Monday evening at 8 p. m. for the first meeting of his 12-weeks' course. The class will meet one hour a week and requires about one hour's outside preparation a week. The course is a non-credit course and open to anyone in the college who may wish to attend it regularly or vagabond it.

Mr. Huntington says that the course follows fairly closely to the first month's training in the V-7 course of the Navy, except that this course will require less ability in mathematics, since the men will be taught the use of mathematical tables rather than the highly complicated task of working out the table values.

The subject matter of the course will deal largely with reading charts, and the theory of piloting and navigating small vessels on coastal waters near the mainland. Mr. Huntington will lecture on the sea rules, nautical instruments, hydrographic instruments,

Alumni Council Will Prepare Concrete Plan for Houses

USED AT AMHERST

Proposed Program Effects Large Annual Savings For 13 Chapters

Taking a long stride toward cooperative buying and business management of the ten Hamilton fraternities, 30 alumni advisors, presidents and treasurers unanimously gave the Alumni Council's Committee on Fraternities the go-ahead signal Friday afternoon to prepare a concrete plan for fraternity action on the program.

Use Amherst Example

Meeting in the Trustee room of the Administration Building, the chapter representatives heard a report by Arthur Davenport, Amherst, '32, manager of the Fraternity Business Management at that college. Davenport's visit to the Hill was arranged by Willard B. Eddy, '14, who, as chairman of an Alumni Council committee assigned to the problem, has been working for more than a year to establish a similar cooperative at Hamilton.

Davenport, pointing out large annual savings realized at Amherst because of the cooperative buying plan, related the history of the plan there. The FBM set up office in September, 1937, he told the group, as the College's 13 houses entered the new academic year with a collective cash deficit of $3,219. In one year, FBM put them in the black $5,074 and they have stayed there since despite a decrease in fraternity dues from an average of $111 in 1937 to $97 in 1940.

"Over the four years, Amherst students paid $25,000 less to their fraternities, and their chapter houses are better furnished and in better condition now than they have ever been," he summarized.

No Business Magic

Transplanting such an organization to Hamilton and with it the attendant benefits would, in his opinion, require no special business legerdemain. As he sees the shift, it is just a matter of getting the houses' agreement, naming a competent full-time business manager, and going ahead.

Marking Time

Soph Hell Week, Double-Clutching, War Time, Frozen Feet and Chlorine

Seeking such articles as a tobacco tin full of dandruff, snooping through the cemetery at odd hours of the night, making Saturday night dates with burley queens and other such quests kept most of the froggies busy last week, but we hear that it remained for the Theta Delt youngsters to reverse the process.

They took Bob Hall, famous for his hiking even before they nabbed him, down to some point near the village of Brookfield Thursday afternoon. He arrived back at the Ranch about 6:30 that night, but the frogs didn't come back until some time Friday.

* * * * *

Then there was the sad Sunday night at the E.L.S. house. Goloviznin, doing his part for national defense by setting the thermostat clock an hour to War Time when he came in, accidentally fuddled the works somehow and the boys woke up in the c.g.d. (old gray dawn) Monday with icicles hanging from their ears.

We might mention Jim Lawrence, too. That worthy character, driving back Sunday night, got the trusty Plymouth stalled on Paris Hill and froze both his feet before he got out. He says they'll drop off if he freezes them again.

Acting Corporal L. J. Goldbas, '41, of the Fort Knox Armored Force blew in over the weekend and traded lies with us for a while. Larry, readers may remember, is the purveyor of the tale last fall about the chap who was fired from the army for picking up stray pieces of paper and then exclaimed "That's what I was looking for," when he received his discharge for mental instability.

This tale, however, is one that happened to L. J. personally. Instructor in tank driving, he was elaborating to some tool on the mysteries of the "double-clutch", a maneuver in shifting gears in which one slips them into neutral, steps up the motor to the gear speed and then engages the clutch again. The pupil (we won't say scholar after that Chapel talk Monday), took over and went bounding merrily down the road in 13 tons of nuts, bolts, guns, etc.

He started to shift gears, but couldn't manage to get them engaged. Queried by Prof. Goldbas as to what was wrong with the double clutch system, he howled, "Everything seems to work all right, but I can't find the other clutch."

* * * * *

L. J., we might add, reported back yesterday morning for Officers' Training School, while we hear that Alec Rutherford, also '41, will do the same at Fort Belvoir, Va., in the Engineers. Lightnin' Bill Eddy, of the same class, now a sergeant at Fort Knox, hopes to transfer to the Air Force for officers' training.

Nomination of the week: Chuck Vetter, '44, for air raid warden, specializing in gas attacks. Over in the chem lab last week, while ye Sutherland was brewing a mess of chorine, Chuck got a little worried when the dingus went on the bink and started choking him. He rushed for a window. Result: Two stitches in his hand.

Dean Dickson, Wilkerson Move to North Dormitory

"Don't worry, I won't make too much noise," assured Dean of Students Campbell Dickson in telling of his decision to taste first-hand the life of a North dormitory grind. The Dean, together with Robert Wilkerson, '42, will move into his new apartment in No. 1 North sometime during this week.

The idea started when Dean Dickson, who has been living alone in his house next to Benedict Hall while Mrs. Dickson is away, decided to cut down expenses and the trouble of maintaining a home for the time being. Coincidentally, he found that Wilkerson was planning to move to a dormitory in hopes of bettering his studies. With no room available at the Faculty Club for himself, the Dean suggested that the two room together in North, where there were several room vacancies. It sounded like a good idea, so that was that.

"There is no ulterior motive," Mr. Dickson said. "I just have a personal curiosity to see what life is like in Hamilton dormitories." He'll find out when someone short-sheets him, or he is awakened bright and early by the pleasant if not amusing chatter of the cleaning women outside his door discussing Mrs. Mulleavy's lumbago.

This will not be the first time that Dean Dickson has lived in a dormintory since undergraduate days. While teaching in the Experimental School of the University of Wisconsin he was for a while master of one of the large dormitories there. His present stay in North will probably last only for three or four weeks, until Mrs. Dickson returns.

As for Wilkerson's part, he indicated that he expects the experience of rooming with the dean to be "a lot of fun". It will be a lot more fun if the Dean pitches in on some of those translations a roommate should. At least both of them will increase considerably their selection of ties and shirt studs.

THE AMERICAN SCHOLAR

President Cowley's talk in Chapel Monday noon on "The American Scholar", one of Emerson's best known essays, provoked some thought in this corner. We looked up "The American Scholar," delivered at Harvard in 1837, and found some statements that seemed very relevant to the present situation.

"Colleges — have their indispensable office — to teach elements. But they can only highly serve us when they aim not to drill, but to create; when they gather from far every ray of various genius to their hospitable halls, and by their concentrated fires, set the heart of youth on flame."

In other words, the College can't very well turn out an educated man when he isn't interested in being educated. One can gain from education when he uses his learning as a tool for thought; something, as it were, to be employed as a ladder for climbing to new thoughts. That's where the relevance to 1942 comes in.

Hamilton's curriculum will probably undergo more overhauling before its final shape is decided, but the catalogue now lists enough courses to provide more than enough meat for those who wish to go through the process of intellectual digestion. Courses, however, aren't all the College offers; the College calander carries an imposing array of extracurricular activities.

Now, with defense courses in meteorology, military biology, radio, and basic mathematics, work in navigation for future Naval officers, government pilot training programs, forums, increased physical education, and a host of other activities offered, few students can safely burrow down in their books and spurn what goes on outside of class hours. Again we quote from Emerson:

"There goes in the world a notion that the scholar should be a recluse — as unfit for any handiwork or public labor as a penknife for an axe — As far as this is true of the studious classes, it is not just and wise. Action is with the scholar subordinate, but it is essential. Without it he is not yet man. The world lies wide around. Its attractions are the keys which unlock my thoughts and make me acquainted with myself. I do not see how any man can afford, for the sake of his nerves and his nap, to spare any action in which he can partake."

Then we come to the present. What of today? What should the scholar do in the present situation? What should a student do? Back to Emerson:

"He (the scholar) and he only knows the world. The world of any moment is the merest appearance. Some great decorum, some fetish of government, some ephemeral trade, or war, or man, is cried up by half mankind and cried down by the other half, as if all depended on this particular up or down . . . Let him not quit his belief that a popgun is a popgun although the ancient and the honorable of the earth affirm it to be the crack of doom."

We can't agree with Emerson here to the full degree. The world situation is no popgun volley at the present time, and dangerous animals unknown in 1837 have broken loose upon the world. There's a tremendous job to be done. Where we do agree with Emerson, however, is that the world still will be spinning when this war is over, and that we shouldn't stop our efforts with the last gunshot. The work we're doing now is pointed toward victory, but we can't shut our eyes on the future. And development of the individual here today will be an investment in that future.

SUMMER SESSION

We highly commend the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees for its recent action making possible a summer session at Hamilton. When industry is contributing to national defense by speeding up production of tanks, planes, and shells, the colleges too should produce educated men as rapidly as possible.

Perserving the culture of the American people is as important a wartime task as a peacetime business. Hamilton has seen this task and acted accordingly.

Cadence Corner

J. C. Reynolds

The third concert in the new series, called "Music With Tea", was held last Friday afternoon at the home of Dr. Saunders.

When I entered Dr. Saunders' home, I couldn't believe my ears. Could this really be one of those "Teas With Music" or "Music With Tea" concerts? Indeed, it had to be. There were the same old faces you see at every concert on the Hill.

But the artist, who is he? Joseph Hofmann. (Oh, come now, this is Hamilton) The program said that his name was William Masselos. (Pronounce it any way you like. Everyone at the concert did.)

I must admit that I was amazed and delighted to hear the youthful Mr. Masselos perform. His all Brahms program consisted of four Intermezzos and a Ballade, all exceedingly well done.

But that is not what I want to talk about. It was the E flat minor Scherzo that really impressed me. He played it very differently. Indeed, it was definitely Brahms, but Brahms done in a new manner or style. It was a brilliant youthful style done with mature interpretation.

I have heard the Scherzo played so that it gave me the impression that I was sitting in a musty study of A. Conan Doyle. But on Friday afternoon, this was not the case. Mr. Masselos performed it with strength and with delicate clarity of tone. It was "like a string of pearls."

After hearing the Scherzo, I was disappointed in the Variations on a Theme of Paganini, Opus 35, but I did not say that that work wasn't well done. It was. Masselos' technique, and interpretation were sound, and he created a widespread degree of interest with his work especially among the majority of those present.

The artist chose an ambitious program and did a wonderful job with it. The most amazing thing about his playing was his style. He adopted a different tonal quality for each work. Some young woman remarked after the Scherzo, "My, didn't that sound like Chopin?" No, it didn't sound like Chopin but that just illustrates the obvious variations in style that Mr. Masselos had.

By the way, Mrs. Saunders' tea and cakes were delicious.

Fullerton, '38, Busy At USNR Training

With six Hamilton students passing the Naval Reserve V-7 last week and others also ready for the training, Life reprints the following excerpt from a letter written by Bud Fullerton, '38, and received last week by Coach and Mrs. Jean M. Gelas.

Fullerton is now on the training ship U.S.S. Prarie State.

"On the 22nd of January along with 550 other chaps, I embarked on a new venture. We're training for officers' commissions in the Naval Reserve. The pace is terrific; by the middle of May we will be sent out into active duty.

"The work is similar to the finals period at Hamilton without let-up. The teminology, discipline, schedule, etc. are all nautical. We live aboard this old battleship; stand our watch on the signal bridge, forecastle, etc., night and day. For all of us it was a matter of complete and abrupt adjustment at first, but they've drawn the best college men from all over the country; typical American youth with their unbeatable sense of humor so that it really has been fun.

"The old flunking-out axe that used to hang over our Hamiltonian heads swings here too — rather freely — at least until February 13th when either we're dismissed or we're midshipmen. Right now we're merely apprentice seamen.

"Hamilton men here are Halsey Barrett, '35; Carl Jensen, '36; Ken Soper, '38; O. P. Keeney ,'39, and, as you probably know, Ham Gouge of the class of '40 is here as Ensign and instructor."

"Catalogus", by Bishop John Bale, a rare volume published in 1557, has been acquired by Ohio State University's department of English library.

Collegiate Conundrums

by Richard D. Stockton, '43

Do you need money? Would you like to become rich overnight? Just think what you could do with ten United States dollars tonight. Here's a story of success, of real material reward for performing an every-day act common to all of us—eating. It seems as there was a certain Wittenberg College sophomore who, spurred on by pecuniary reimbursement of ten silver certificates, tested the edibility of raw frog, or Rana pipiens. The amphibious cadaver, saturated in formaldehyde and dead at least two years, was eaten raw without even so much as a pinch of NaCl; the gulper, however, did drink some water for transportational reasons. Soon only ectoderm, skeleton, and eyeballs remained. Needless to say, amphibian and undergraduate were together for a very short time. The sophomore was still alive and croaking when last seen.

The smallest park in the world is believed to be Patton Park, located on the campus of Muskingum College. After meticulous surveying, engineers have estimated that it is less than 1-350th of an acre in area, as well as home for one tree, three stones, and approximately 200,00 blades of grass.

The University of Texas can boast of one Dr. Harper who, in the last forty years, has always worn a red bow tie, the same type of shoes, and carried an umbrella. Whether it be seen at the top of Mount Everest or in the Black Hole of Calcutta, in the court of a king or amid memoirs of President Stryker, there is always a certain significance to a light brown suit, tan shirt, and green bow tie to all Hamilton undergraduates.

A TALL AND EXCEPTIONally clever Oberlin five took advantage of its height to take the measure of Hamilton. Leading at the end of the first half, the Hill five succumed to the dead shots of Oberlin's sharp shooters. The height of the Oberlin team gave them more opportunities to remove the ball from the backboard and to shoot more often. As is obvious, the more a team shoots, the more shots it is likely to score in the long run. The fewer number of shots that Hamilton took gave them a higher percentage than Oberlin's; but in basketball games we don't pay off in higher percentages. Oberlin took 75 shots at the basket while Hamilton took only 55. Oberlin's percentage was 28 per cent while Hamilton's was 31 per cent. In the difference of percentage the Continentals looked better, but isn't it worth 20 shots more at the hoop to boost the score and lower the percentage? Our point in this short harangue is that Hamilton ought to take more shots and let the other team worry about getting the higher percentage.

TO ASSURE THOSE WHO saw both Oberlin and Rochester play at our court individually, we want to add that we saw a different Oberlin team than the one that played at Rochester. When Oberlin played Rochester, three of its "dead-eyes" were ineligible. If Oberlin and Rochester were to meet again this season, we certainly would put our money on Oberlin.

SATURDAY THE HILL SEXtet entertains the Jamaica Hawks in the Sage Building. The Hawks at this time are in third slot in the Metropolitan League and are slowly edging toward first. Two years ago the Hawks won the Metropolitan League title.

THE JAMAICA HAWKS ARE managed by Watson Thompson, '23, and of the well known Thompsons. During the early twenties the Thompson boys monopolized the Hill sextets. Two of the three Thompson brothers were captains in their senior year. Also at one time on the Hawks' roster were Gar Laux, '36, (the fellow you see in Sage building 12 hours out of 24) and Chuck Redmond, '45. Both contributed ably to the team's success in the past and now are sorely missed.

SUNNY DALE ALSO HAS had some experience with the Hawks. During the past Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, Sunny enjoyed playing with the Hawks in the Garden and at Boston. Sunny says the only difference is that the Hawks play rougher and use many tactics, unseen by the referee, of course, to bowl over the opponent.

WHILE AT THE HAWKS-Hill game Saturday night, look for Ed Whiting and Paul "Pops" Melis to win your admiration. "Pops" is thus called owing to his bald head which makes him appear rather old. He is the favorite of the Garden fans.

THE HAMILTON COLLEGE fencing team sent the bladesmen from Buffalo back to their hangout properly scalped. The boys from Buffalo didn't stand a chance against our more expert foilsmen. Beginning Thursday, the Gelasmen leave for Dartmouth and M.I.T. Let's see the same kind of fencing, fellows!

WE CANNOT CONCLUDE our column without at least mentioning the five-ring circus we saw Saturday night. We're only sorry that some of the intramural boys were'nt dressed for the game. It's needless to mention the name of the game we're referring to.

WE WOULD LIKE TO SEE the basketball team rest for a day or so, thinking that a rest would help the boys to relax in a game more than they're relaxing at present. Too much practice can easily make the boys "go stale", ruining their chances to develop a free and easy style of shooting while playing.

Gelas Swordsmen Vanquish Bisons

Foilsmen Take Nine Bouts; Team Prepared For Weekend Trip

Coach Gelas' swordsmen got their season under way with a vengeance last Saturday by trouncing Buffalo's fencers, 22½ to 4½, taking nearly every match from the game but definitely outclassed Bisons in the first match of the season for the Hill team.

The Continentals came out far in the lead in each of the three weapons. Fencing foil for Hamilton were Al Williford, Herb Wieder, Tom Colby, Bill McGhee, and Gerry Dale against Vander Mede, MacGinnis and Shapiro of Buffao. The score in this division was Hamilton 9, Buffalo 0. Fencing in the epee division for Hamilton were Captain George Gillmore, Brace Bennitt, George Overhiser, and Herb Wieder, and for Buffalo, VanderMede, MacGinnis and Shapiro. Again the Continentals came off on top with a score of 7½ to 1½. The score in the saber division was 6 for Hamilton to 3 for Buffalo, with Bill Doremus, Bob Colby, G. Grout, Al Williford, Buck Dale, and Bill Humphrey fencing VanderMede MacGinnis, and Rosenburg.

Until Saturday afternoon, the Buffalo crew had been an unknown quantity as far as Hamilton was concerned, inasmuch as the Hill team had never met the Bisons before behind the masks. Coach Gelas feels now that his men have the necessary experience of a match as well as the technical preparation to put them in top form for the bouts with Dartmouth and M.I.T. this week.

Points by man: Foil, Williford (H) 3, Wieder (H) 2, T. Colby (H) 2, McGhee (H) 1, G. Dale (H) 1; Epee, Gillmore (H) 2, Bennitt (H) 1½, Overhiser (H) 3, Wieder (H) 1, Vandermede (B) 1, Shapiro (B) ½; Sabre, Doremus (H) 2, R. Colby (H) 1, Grout (H) 2, Williford (H) 1, MacGinnes (B) 2, Vandermede (B) 1.

Clinton Skaters Invade Hill This Evening

The Clinton Hockey Club sextet will invade the Hill tonight for its annual tussle with the Hamilton varsity.

So far this season, both teams have lost but one contest, Clinton losing to the St. Nicholas Club of New York City, while the Colgate Red Raiders stopped the Buff and Blue in their initial encounter.

The town team numbers Clarkson, Norwich, Newburgh, and Massena among its victims.

If comparative scores mean anything, Clinton tripped Norwich 4-2, while Hamilton beat the same team 6-5.

Intramural Sports

by Steve Richardson

Hell Week forced further postponement of the scheduled intramural contests, but two basketball games were played last Wednesday night. All postponed games will be played at a later date.

The Tekes and D.U.'s played a very exciting game last Wednesday which was decided only after two overtime periods. The Tekes eked out a 20-18 victory. At the end of the regulation playing time, the score was tied 16-16. At the end of the first overtime period, the score was 18-18. A "sudden death" overtime period was then agreed upon, and shortly after the beginning of this period a Teke basket decided the game. Gerry Lattin was star for the Tekes, while Phil Goulding and Ralph Leavenworth bore the brunt ot fhe D.U. attack.

In the second game last Wednesday, the Blue Squires walloped Lambda Chi Alpha by a score of 36-12. Carl Clements and Al Gracyn were outstanding for the winners, and Harry Love and Herb Crumb played well for the Lambda Chi's.

The Sigs continued along the victory trail tonight, with a well-earned 33-26 triumph. The Sigs presented a well-rounded attack, with Jim Rhind as the high scorer. Bill Bennett and Johnny Richardson led the Psi Upsilon attack, which was greatly improved since their last game. This was a fast, well-played game, and there were flashes of good ball handling.

The Tekes again showed themselves equal to an overtime game, when they nosed out Emerson Literary in an extra period 24-20. Again Gerry Lattin led his team, scoring eight points. Art Naylor was the leading scorer for E.L.S., making most of his points on set shots. This game was very close all the way.

In hockey, the Blue Squires turned in a close win over the Dekes, winning 1-0. Al Gracyn, goalie for the Squires gained the shutout. The game was primarily a defensive contest, with one goal the deciding factor.

The D.U.'s came through with a 6-3 conquest of the Buff Squires. The outcome was never in doubt, as Bill Curran and Ralph Leavenworth led a strong D.U. offensive. The Buffs were led by Army Hoch. At times it appeared as if the Buffs might get going, but each time these threats were turned.

Ski Team to Oppose Hobart On Local Trail

The Hamilton College ski team, captained by Richard Cartwright, '42, will face Hobart, a traditional rival, here this weekend.

A cross-country course laid out by Captain Cartwright Tuesday will be run by both teams Friday afternoon. The slalom and downhill events will probably be held at Old Forge in the Adirondacks, because of lack of snow near the Hill.

The Hamilton squad has not been picked to date, but will undoubtedly include Captain Cartwright, Bob Bagg, '43, and Dick Claassen, '44.

Eberle and Moore Star In Fast Moving Contest

Hamilton hockey enthusiasts had a treat last week as the Buff and Blue skaters won their fourth and fifth consecutive games, 6-5 over Norwich and 6-1 over Union.

The game with Norwich was the most even and fastest in the Sage Building in the last few years, while the Union game saw the Hillmen skating rinks around their traditional rivals.

The Continentals started the Norwich contest as if it would be a walkaway with two goals in the first four minutes. But the Horsemen, with Chuck Wright doing most of the work, changed the aspect of the game with three goals within two minutes of the middle period. Then Buzz Eberle and Goose Moore teamed up for their third score of the game, to knot the count at 5-5 at the end of the period.

Dana Babcock broke up the argument with an early last period score. Taking the puck around the Maroon and Gold cage, the sophomore tried to push it in around the corner. The goalie's skates interposed at just the right angle, and the rubber caromed into the cage. The rest of the game was fast with both teams charging, but neither could get another score across.

Against Union, the Buff and Blue displayed even better passwork than was used against Norwich, but the Dutchmen improved as the game progressed and kept the Continentals from scoring at all in the last period.

Union had only one skater—Bob Panoc, the mighty mite who stole the puck and got around the Hamilton defense to make good one of the Garnet's eight shots at the home cage.

The outstanding features of the last two games were the greatly improved passwork of the Continentals and the defensive work of the back line.

Oberlin Last Half Blitzkrieg Tops Hillman by 58-47 Count

Quintet Trounces Dutchmen, 52-32

Hamilton's high scoring courtmen returned from Schenectady last Wednesday evening after turning in a 52-32 triumph over the Union College quintet; it was their third victory of the year.

Checked by the Garnet defense until about midway in the first period, the Continentals finally started rolling and couldn't be stopped. At the half their advantage was 29-17.

The Webermen were led by Captain Bob Henry who dragged down 14 points, while Rod Smith and Milt Jannone trailed him with 13 and 12 points respectively. Macomber of the Garnet led the Dutchmen with eight tallies.

Despite this easy victory, it was Hamilton's second cage victory over Union in the last 11 years.

Addessi and Le Fevre Place 30 Point Push; Hill Leads at Half

Oberlin basketball shock troops muzzled a spirited Hamilton attack here Saturday afternoon when they overcame a three-point, halftime deficit, and won going away, 58-47. It was the third straight win for the Ohioans.

Leading 28-25 at halftime, the Webermen collapsed before Oberlin's third period attack which netted 19 points and set the tall westerners up to a 44-38 advantage.

Three long shots by Fausto Addessi, Oberlin guard, and a tap in by Dew, gave the winners a 52-40 lead after three minutes of the final quarter, but Bob Henry put Hamilton back in the game with five counters scored on two overhead shots, and a charity lane marker. Henry was called out of the game on fouls with three minutes left to play, and the Oberlin outfit dropped in three more baskets to win.

The first period was a see-saw battle for the lead with neither team having more than a two point advantage throughout. Bob Henry's seven points gave Hamilton a 14-13 lead at this point.

Bob DeGroff sank a foul shot to tie up the score as the second period got underway, but Rod Smith's flashy overhead field goal gave Hamilton a 16-14 advantage, and started it toward a domination of the second period.

Rod Smith and Henry paced the 14 points, second period offensive with six points apiece. Henry's total for the first half was 13 points.

The two teams fought on even terms throughout the first eight minutes of the third period, but with the score tied at 37-37, LeFevre, Addessi, and Carlesle dropped in field shots and LeFevre added a foul shot to send Oberlin ahead, 44-38.

Bob Henry paced the game's scoring with 20 points, bringing his season's total up to 78 points in six games. Addessi and LeFevre had 16 and 15 respectively for the winners.

Jamacia Hawks Not To Appear

The hockey game with the Jamaica Hawks, scheduled for Saturday night, was called off by Coach Albert I. Prettyman this morning, because it was found that the Hawks, in not belonging to the American Athletic Union, is an "outlaw team" as far as AAU teams are concerned.

Passed by the National Collegiate Athletic Association four years ago, this rule effects the 300 members of the AAU, the greatest part of which are college squads. Hamilton is on the AAU roster.

Coach Prettyman stressed that the Jamaica Hawks, even under the rule is not a pro team. In using Madison Square Garden in New York, and other rinks in Baltimore, Atlantic City and Boston, they run up against rink owners who are out to make money. An AAU rating held only by amateur teams, would exclude the Hawks from playing in these rinks. Coach Prettyman further suggested that rinks are scarce in the metropolitan districts.

No other game has been set for Saturday night to take the place of the Hawk game.

Success in growing vanilla plants from seed, which had been considered virtually impossible, has been reported at Cornell University.

The Alumni Council approved the idea and action will be taken to prepare a concrete plan for fraternities to act upon. It also passed a resolution that the trustees underwrite the cost of the plan.

A report of the committee on Class Organization was submitted by Jeff Meagher, '31. The Council then passed a resolution to the effect that in its opinion a reunion should be held during commencement weekend, May 23-25.

Professor Emeritus William Shepard, Secretary of the 50th Reunion class made some remarks concerning plans for reunions.

Charles Seaver, '31, reported for the Committee on Recruiting and proposed a plan for having local associations assume responsibility for recruiting prospective Hamilton students in their areas.

Carl Wenigmann, '13, also announced that $13,500 had been pledged to the alumni fund from 65 people in New York City and State. Dr. Cowley made a few remarks on the general status of the college.

Marines Here Tuesday

Because of an accident last week, the Marines Selection Board, under the direction of Lieut. Warren J. Ryder, was not able to meet applicants for the Marine officers' training course last Friday afternoon. The Board did meet the men in the Gymnasium yesterday afternoon and made preliminary interviews with the applicants. A quota of 17 men was allowed for Hamilton: eight seniors, six juniors, and three sophomores. Final selections will be made early in March when Lieut. Ryder's Board will visit here again with the intention of swearing in the successful applicants.

COOPERATIVE BUYING—

"The results have been altogether salutory," Davenport said. "Amherst students today are 100 per cent behind the FBM plan, and there never has been the remotest charge that FBM figures were used to promote selfish ends."

Under the program, financial officers of the fraternities don't simply unload their chores on the FBM, since full financial control remains in the hands of each fraternity. The students themselves make out their budgets, fix dues, figure out their own way of collecting them, and decide the individual needs of their own houses.

Advice from the FBM office aids in purchasing, with money-saving contracts cutting costs for both students and marketers.

"Does this mean that if we go into this plan all the houses on the Hill will have to serve roast beef the same night?" one student asked.

"It does not," emphasized Davenport. "The FBM makes the contracts; each fraternity buys what it wants to under the contracts:"

In addition to this servicec, the FBM acts as sort of economic counsellor, advising on budgets, suggesting needed, money-saving repairs, going over monthly house audits, and also giving house treasurers a sound business education.

Preparations for the adoption of such a cooperative plan have been going on at Hamilton for some time. R. W. Drummond, '12, has been promoting such a plan for a number of years, while more than a year ago Mr. Eddy, as chairman of the Alumni Council Committee on Fraternities, acquired him and Arthur S. Pohl, '14, as aids. Together they have been working to put the diverse bookkeeping systems of the 10 houses into a line that will permit drawing up of comparative financial statements at the end of the present college year. Only with such parallel bookkeeping would a newly-established FBM have a standard upon which to gauge its efficacy.

Establishing such an office would cost $5,000 a year, a sum which would have to be raised by assessing the College (for operation of Commons) and the fraternities, according to size. Supporters of the plan are confident that Hamilton, as Amherst, could save many times the cost of the office.

Formal approval of each of the houses is yet to come on the concrete plan to be drawn up by the Alumni Council for management of the $250,000 a year business. This, incidentally, would be a bigger business than Amherst's, for while the number of fraternities there is greater, the number of dining halls is fewer.

ADRIENNE AMES
(star of stage, screen and radio) visits many training camps in her job as Chairman of the Entertainment Committee of the Home Legion. A carton of Chesterfields is a mighty welcome gift for the men in camp.
Mighty important in this man's Army
